Whilst at the Heritage Centre you can visit the Corby and The Electronic Brain exhibition. The exhibition looks at Corby's computing history beginning with the Steelworks Computer purchased in 1957. The exhibitors special exhibit will be a rare piece of that 1957 computer, one of only a few machines that were ever built by the Lyons Electronic Office company. There will also be important artefacts from the Council's collection including film and news articles from the time.
